

56th ANNUAL PAST PRESIDENT’S DINNER

The Rotary Club of Lexington held its 56th annual Past Presidents’ Dinner on Tuesday, June 2, at The Lexington Club.

As tradition dictates, the immediate past president serves as host for the evening and invites past presidents of the Rotary Club of Lexington, along with past presidents from other Rotary clubs. Bob Milward started the tradition when he was president in 1970-71. This year, Bret Anderson presided over the event, while past president Dave Blondell delivered the invocation.

A highlight of the evening was the opportunity for past presidents to share advice and encouragement with incoming president Lyle Hanna. Twenty-four past presidents participated, each offering thoughtful suggestions and reflections drawn from their years of leadership. It was inspiring to hear the positive remarks and collective wisdom from such a distinguished group.

To conclude the evening, incoming president Lyle Hanna outlined his goals and vision for the year ahead, setting an optimistic tone for the club’s future.

The dinner was a memorable evening filled with fellowship, shared memories, and camaraderie. Attendees left with a strong sense of pride in the club’s accomplishments and excitement for the direction it is headed in the coming year.

ROTARY CLUB OF LEXINGTON POLLINATOR/RAINWATER GARDEN TOUR

The Rotary Club of Lexington invites members of the community to visit our fifth-season pollinator garden in Kenawood Park (612 Bryanwood Parkway) from 9:00 AM to noon on Saturday, June 27. The tour is one of many scheduled for the week of June 22-28 as part of Lexington’s annual Pollinator Week celebration. (See <https://pollinatorlex.com> for a current listing of activities planned for the week.)

Visitors to the Kenawood Park garden, located behind the ball park, will have an opportunity to learn the history of the garden—why it was planted as a pollinator garden with native plants and why it was planted in one of our city parks as part of a joint effort of the Rotary Club of Lexington and Lexington Parks & Rec.

Wealth is freedom to create new memories.

MEET OUR SPEAKER

WILL STEIN

This week Lexington Rotarians have the privilege of getting to meet new UK head football coach Will Stein for the first time.

Coach Stein’s roots in Kroger Field soil run deep.

A native Kentuckian, Stein is the son of UK alumni – father Matt played football at UK and mother Debbie is an avid fan – and he inherited their passion as he grew up watching the Wildcats in the then-Commonwealth Stadium, section 128, row 13 to be exact. He later competed in the stadium as a collegiate quarterback and assistant coach.

On Dec. 2, 2025, the family’s journey came full circle as Stein was named head coach of Kentucky football. “I’m honored and excited to become the next head coach at Kentucky,” Stein said. “Growing up in Kentucky and sitting in the stands at UK games as a kid, I could only dream of one day leading the Wildcats. This is truly a dream come true. My goal is to lead with purpose and help young men grow on and off the field. I’m deeply thankful to President Capilouto, Mitch Barnhart, and Big Blue Nation for the trust they’ve placed in me . . . Now, I can’t wait to get started and make Kentucky proud.”

Stein, 36, returned to the Commonwealth from the University of Oregon, where he was the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach for three seasons.

Paced by a high-scoring offense, the 2025 Ducks finished the 2025 season 13-2 overall, including an 8-1 mark in the Big Ten. The No. 5 Ducks advanced to the semifinals of the College Football Playoff with a 23-0 win over No. 4 Texas Tech before falling to the eventual national champion and top-ranked Indiana, 56-22. It marked just the fifth loss in the last three years for the program. The Ducks were the only team in the country to win thirteen games each of the past two seasons, tying the program record for single-season victories first set in 2014.

In 2024, Oregon went 13-1, winning the Big Ten regular season title and the league championship game over Penn State. The Ducks advanced to the College Football Playoff as the No. 1-seed, with the season’s only loss coming in the Rose Bowl.

A native of Louisville, Stein has football heritage, as his father, Matt, was a defensive end for the Wildcats under Coach Jerry Claiborne. Matt was a two-year letterman in 1983 and ’84, playing for UK’s teams that made consecutive appearances in the Hall of Fame Bowl.

Will Stein played his high school ball at Trinity High School, where he was a three-time state champion and set the single-season school record for touchdown passes with 54.

Stein played at the University of Louisville from 2008-12, then moved to the coaching staff as a graduate assistant in 2013 (quarterbacks) and quality control coach in 2014 (wide receivers). He earned a bachelor’s degree in sports administration from Louisville in 2011, and Master’s in business administration in 2014.

He and his wife Darby have two children, Joey and Demi.

HOW SAFE ARE WE IN LEXINGTON?

It’s a question that seems to surface in every community conversation, neighborhood gathering, and social media thread:

How safe are we in Lexington?
Last week’s program brought together two highly respected voices on public safety to tackle that very question from both the public and private sectors. Lexington Police Chief Lawrence B. Weathers and David Ashford, President and CEO of Integrated Security Solutions and Chair of Bluegrass Crime Stoppers, offered an informative and reassuring look at the state of safety in our community.

Ashford, a former Lexington Police sergeant and U.S. Marine military policeman, focused much of his presentation on the important role that citizens play in helping law enforcement keep communities safe. Through Bluegrass Crime Stoppers, residents can anonymously provide information that helps solve crimes while protecting their identities.

“People are still the best temperature of what’s going on in the community,” Ashford said, noting that Crime Stoppers provides a confidential avenue for those who may fear retaliation or simply don’t want to become publicly involved. He later reinforced the importance of public participation, telling Rotarians, “Police departments cannot do it by themselves. They’ve got to have help from the community.”

The results speak for themselves. Over the past several years, Bluegrass Crime Stoppers has received more than 6,400 tips, leading to over 300 arrests, more than 570 felony charges, and the resolution of twenty homicide cases. The program has also helped remove illegal drugs, firearms, and other dangerous items from local streets.

Chief Weathers emphasized that while law enforcement plays a critical role, community involvement remains one of the most important factors in maintaining public safety.

“Lexington is one of the best-run cities in the country,” Weathers said, explaining that comparisons between cities can be difficult because of differing circumstances and demographics. Still, he noted that Lexington frequently ranks among the nation’s most desirable communities and credited strong citizen engagement as a key reason why.

One of the most compelling moments of the presentation came when Ashford praised the Lexington Police Department’s professionalism and national reputation. He highlighted the department’s long-standing accreditation through the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies (CALEA) and noted that Lexington became the first agency in the United States to earn three consecutive flagship designations, a distinction reserved for departments that exemplify national best practices.

“The Lexington Police Department is one of the best police departments in the United States,” Ashford said, citing both the department’s professionalism and its commitment to continuous improvement.

The discussion also touched on emerging challenges. Chief Weathers cited thefts from vehicles, particularly thefts of firearms left inside cars, as one of the community’s most persistent concerns. He encouraged residents to remove valuables and firearms from vehicles whenever possible, noting that many thieves specifically target unlocked cars in search of weapons.

While both speakers highlighted the professionalism of Lexington’s law enforcement community, they also emphasized that public safety remains a shared responsibility. Weathers credited Lexington’s engaged citizenry as a major factor in the city’s success.

“Community involvement changes all of that,” Weathers said. “If we don’t have that community involvement, then things can get out of whack.”

Ashford echoed that sentiment, noting that Crime Stoppers’ mission is ultimately about empowering citizens to become part of the solution.

“We’re really trying to make it uncomfortable to do business here,” he said of the organization’s efforts to disrupt criminal activity. “We want them to go somewhere else and do business.”

The answer to the question, “How safe are we in Lexington?” appears to be encouraging. Thanks to a highly regarded police department, engaged community partners, and vigilant citizens, Lexington remains one of Kentucky’s safest and most livable communities. As both speakers reminded us, maintaining that reputation depends on all of us working together.

NEW MEMBER DEEP DIVE: DAVID LEVINE

DAVID LEVINE

If you ever wondered if our Early Morning Mixers at 46 Solutions were a good way to introduce Lexington Rotary to potential new members, all you need to do is talk to David Levine. He was generally familiar with the works of Rotary but at one such mixer he met Lyle Hanna and other members who invited him to attend a lunch meeting. There he learned more about Rotary and was convinced that joining Rotary would be a great way to give back to the community and meet like-minded business people.

David moved to Lexington after graduation from Ohio State University to work in the horse industry. He leased a farm and raised horses before moving into the financial services field. Working with Capstone Advisory Group, David performs financial planning for individuals and small businesses. Many of his clients are teachers or other individuals with public pensions.

A father of two adult children (a son who works in cyber security and a daughter who is in healthcare), David is a certified scuba diver. Prior dive trips include Florida, Cape Cod, and Cozumel. He attributes his interest in diving to the fact that growing up he was always around fish tanks and aquariums. He also loves driving his old Jeep in the Red River Gorge State Park.

David has many potential adventures on his bucket list, but first he is concentrating on growing his business. He just added six new associates and would like to expand into other markets where he can combine his business with other enjoyable activities. But he is sure of one thing – he wants to maintain Lexington as his home base.

NEW MEMBER DEEP DIVE: PARVEEN MAJUMDER

PARVEEN MAJUMDER

New member Parveen Majumder is proud of her Bangladeshi heritage. She spent nearly the first two decades of her life there and still stays connected to her fellow Bengali natives who reside in the Central Kentucky area. But she also enjoys many of the aspects of her life in the US that provide her the opportunities to do things that might not be possible for a woman in Bangladesh.

Growing up, one of her dreams was to learn to dance. She has been able to pursue that goal by working with Hunter Lisle at Arthur Murray Dance Studio. In fact, she and her partner Dylan were recipients of Arthur Murray's Rising Star Award last year. Another satisfying activity for Parveen has been bodybuilding – she recently won 5th Place in the Masters Division of a competition.

Her bodybuilding is one example of her drive to stay healthy both for herself and her daughter. She has made a promise to take care of her daughter and she works out diligently with a trainer. Another facet of her effort to stay healthy is her love of cooking nutritious food.

Parveen loves to help people and that trait is evidenced by numerous activities. As Director of Finance for the Fayette County Sheriff's Office, she has had the opportunity to volunteer for community programs such as the Peace Walk to Stop Gun Violence and the Back-to-School Block Party. She has also participated in activities to raise awareness of the services provided by the Sheriff's Office in the protection of domestic violence victims.

Parveen is grateful for all the positives that her life has provided her, and she looks forward to giving back through Rotary. It should come as no surprise that right at the top of the list for her is working on our Dancing with the Lexington Stars program.

DANCING WITH THE LEXINGTON STARS CELEBRATES 15 REMARKABLE YEARS

The curtain has closed on another unforgettable Dancing with the Lexington Stars, and the 15th anniversary edition of the event was one to remember.

More than 300 guests joined us for an evening filled with entertainment, fellowship, generosity, and community spirit. What began fifteen years ago as a creative fundraising idea has grown into the Rotary Club of Lexington's signature event and, by far, our largest annual fundraiser. While final expenses and net proceeds are still being calculated, preliminary numbers indicate gross revenue exceeded last year's record by approximately twenty percent, making this year's event the most successful in the fundraiser's history.

The success of Dancing with the Lexington Stars extends far beyond the dance floor. The funds raised through this event help support scholarships, community grants, service projects, and charitable initiatives throughout the year. Simply put, the impact created by our club would not be possible without the support this event generates.

This year's dancers dedicated months to learning routines, raising funds, and preparing for the spotlight.

Congratulations to our 2026 champions:

Overall Champion

Gretchen Wagner and Anna Wagner

People's Champion

Dr. Cliff Lowdenback

Judges Champion

Lyndy Smith and Jeromy Smith

While the dancers took center stage, this event belongs to an entire community of supporters. Hundreds of people contributed to its success. Sponsors invested in the mission. Guests purchased tickets and filled the room with energy and enthusiasm. Donors contributed auction items, bottles of bourbon, experiences, gifts, and financial support. Volunteers gave their time. Rotarians stepped forward wherever help was needed.

A special thank you goes to the Dancing with the Lexington Stars Committee. For months, this dedicated team worked behind the scenes coordinating sponsors, supporting dancers, organizing logistics, securing auction items, promoting the event, and managing countless details that made the evening possible.

We are also grateful for our longtime partnership with Hunter Lisle of Arthur Murray Dance Studio and the talented instructors who help bring this event to life each year.

Fifteen years later, Dancing with the Lexington Stars continues to showcase the very best of Rotary: service, leadership, fellowship, and a shared commitment to making our community stronger.

Thank you to everyone who helped make this year's event such an extraordinary success.
